

WALKER KILLED IN COLD BLOOD

Tragedy at Hesperus Coal Mine in Colorado Results in Charge of Murder.

MAPS AND PAPERS MISSING
HINT AS TO PROBABLE CAUSE OF SHOOTING.

Denver, Nov. 4.—Joseph Vanderwiede, who shot and killed United States Secret Service Agent Joseph A. Walker at Durango, Colo., yesterday, and William Mason, superintendent of the Hesperus coal mine, where the shooting occurred, were charged with murder jointly at Durango today on information sworn by E. J. Brennan, also a federal agent.

A post-mortem examination of Walker's body, conducted by Coroner Lefurgy today, disclosed that six shots had entered his body, one penetrating the left wrist, two entering the neck, one of them severing the jugular vein, and three others entering the left side of the chest. It is claimed by Walker's brother officers that it was impossible for him to have been firing at Mason and Vanderwiede when the latter shot him, as he maintained, for in order to do so he must have been facing the two men who would have received the discharge from Vanderwiede's shotgun in the face.

Important Papers Missing.
A new twist was given the case today by the discovery that a number of maps, plates and diagrams of the Durango coal field, as well as statements of persons and Walker's own memoranda concerning the results of his ten months' work gathering evidence in that country, to be used in the land fraud cases, were missing. Walker is known to have carried this mass of documentary matter on his person at all times, it is said, and with his death it has entirely disappeared. It is admitted that the government will be considerably handicapped and perhaps entirely defeated by this loss, and the hint is thrown out that this may have been the real reason for the constant shadowing of Walker for several weeks past. Government agents were aware that Walker had been under almost constant surveillance since the report of the grand jury, made several weeks ago, indicating nearly two dozen men prominent in business circles of southwestern Colorado.

GIRLS FOR PANAMA TRADE

Strong Statement Made by Rose Johnson at the National Purity Congress.

Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 4.—That girls are being stolen from American homes and sent to Panama for immoral purposes was the statement made at the national purity congress here today by Rose Johnson, a missionary who has spent several years in Colon, where she established a boarding house for American boys. Miss Johnson told of a 12-year-old girl who attempted to rescue in Colon, who told her she had been enticed from One Hundred and Twenty-third street, New York, by a strange woman. Miss Johnson said she was attacked in her efforts to get the girl out of a den, and later received word that the girl had been beaten to death. Miss Johnson has also done rescue work in Alexandria, and she stated that she rescued one girl who had been shipped as a white slave from Toronto to Chicago, then to New York, then to Paris and then to Egypt. She said that drinking and gambling conditions appeared to her worse in Colon than at Port Said.

SOUSA DIRECTS TWO INSPIRING CONCERTS

Band and Soloists Give Splendid Music and Children's Chorus Furnishes Patriotic Background.

As her glittering gems add their lustre to the efforts of the prima donna, so does the waving of the stars and stripes give life and color to a Sousa band concert. The march king knows his followers and makes the most of a patriotic background for his lively airs.

There may be fresher and later melodies than "The Stars and Stripes Forever" and more numbers than the selection from "El Capitán," but none gives sweeter music to the popular ear than the sprightly march of the band master. Two large audiences in the tabernacle yesterday afternoon and evening applauded the tuneful efforts of the finished performers.

Pacing 200 wee tots, each waving an American flag, the spruce Sousa waved his baton to his trained musicians and well then there was music.

Following the opening number by the band, the mellow notes of a cornet solo, given by Herbert L. Clarke, furnished a beautiful testimonial to the delicate acoustics of the hall.

The band's second number was a wonderfully descriptive bit, entitled "Sheridan's Ride." Bugle calls, booming of cannon and whirring of bullets in one glorious potpourri of melody, kept the pulses stirring and the final of this number, the beautiful, mournful notes of "Taps," had scarcely died away before the edifice shook with applause.

Although the descriptive music was interpreted as only Sousa can interpret, and although "Symphonic Sketches," "A Night in Washington," and other numbers were given by the old, old melody of "The Stars and Stripes Forever" that made the audience suddenly realize that before them stood the march king. Somehow, though Sousa aims to have his patriotic marches patriotic, they suggest youth and love and dancing very strongly and played under the baton of the master himself they are irresistible.

Perhaps the number that appealed most strongly to the youthful fancy was the afternoon performance was "Waiting at the Church" with variations. The lachrymose maid of the title never so eloquently expressed her grief as when the band wailed forth her tearful tale. And never for a moment did the incongruity of the rollicking music and the sad story of the maiden of worship, disturb the audience, but laughter rippled over the entire auditorium.

The work of Miss Lucy Allen, the soprano soloist, met with instant favor. Possessed of pure, well-rounded voice, Gounod's "Ave Maria" in all its classic, polished beauty, gave her an opportunity to display her powers to the fullest. She followed the classic with a love song, "Geraldine," rather commonplace after the other, though the accompaniment of the organ with the vox humana gave distinct beauty to the song.

The violin playing of Miss Jeannette Powers was of additional treat. Playing an obligato to the "Ave Maria," the piercing sweetness of her tones proved her an artist though seemingly a very young girl.

And last, but not at all least, were the tots, the 50 youngsters, directed by Evan Stephens, who brandished their flags with right good will and sang, sang very loudly and heartily and watched the baton of the master as he led in the patriotic choruses. That the children were surprising good, particularly in the number "The Valley and Mountains," was conceded by all. The afternoon performance was concluded with the mellow strains of Stephen Foster's never to be forgotten melodies, and although applause was plentiful at the conclusion it left many a listener thoughtful, so touching were the simple old things that for so many years have been the folk songs of the American people.

In the evening "The Last Days of Pompeii" was given with starry and realistic effect. The roar of the rent earth, the crashing of buildings and the screams of the perishing were vividly portrayed.

Finishing the evening's performance "The Ride of the Valkyrie," a Wagnerian

CURED AFTER SIX YEARS OF SUFFERING

Chronic Stomach Trouble Pronounced Incurable by Physician Yielded to the Tonic Treatment Although Patient Had No Faith In It.

"For six years I suffered untold misery from stomach trouble," says Mrs. H. P. Flanagan, of Canton, South Dakota, "although I was treated by four physicians. No two agreed as to the nature or cause of my disease. One said I had ulcers of the stomach, another that it was chronic stomach trouble and incurable, another called it neuritis.

"The pain was dull, not sharp, and when I walked or rode I noticed that it was a great deal more severe. It was relieved when I rested or would lie down. I had no appetite and didn't care to eat at all. I tried to eat to keep up my strength but the pain was there whether I ate or not. I was run down in strength and weight.

"My husband read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and persuaded me to try them. When I began to take the pills I had no faith in them whatever but I tried them. I took about three boxes and am so well now that I eat everything I want to. I have no trouble with my stomach and have no doubt that my cure is complete. My general health is good and I have gained in weight. I can and do recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any one suffering from stomach trouble.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do not simply deaden pain; they cure the trouble which causes the pain. They are guaranteed to contain no narcotic, stimulant or opiate. For rheumatism, indigestion, nervous headache, many forms of weakness and debility Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are recommended even if ordinary remedies have been tried without relief.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. A copy of our diet book will be sent free.

bit, strung every nerve to its highest tension.

For a space of four hours yesterday Sousa made a part of Zion's celebration realize that after all, as long as the flag was waving and the band playing life was worth living, even if money was tight and the city in the throes of politics.

Sousa's concerts will be given in the tabernacle this afternoon and evening.

GETS $16,500 FOR HIS VOICE

Attorney Alfred S. Johnson Is Awarded Heavy Damages Against Union Pacific Railroad.

The largest verdict of the year in a personal injury case was an award of $16,500 made to Alfred S. Johnson of Providence, R. I., by a jury in Judge Lewis' branch of the district court yesterday which tried his $30,000 damage suit against the Union Pacific railroad.

Johnson is an attorney and accompanied by his wife was returning from Denver to Kansas City Sept. 19, 1904. While near Kansas Falls, Kan., the rails spread and two Pullmans slid down an embankment. In all fifty-four passengers were injured, but there were no fatalities. Johnson's throat was severely cut by glass and he asserted that as a result he has been unable to practice in the courts as the injury has made it impossible for him to speak much above a whisper.

The case has been on trial for nearly three weeks and a mass of expert testimony has been introduced. The jury went out yesterday morning and returned its verdict shortly before 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN.

Horses and Buggy Saved Through Efforts of Bishop Whittaker.

Bishop Whittaker discovered early yesterday morning that the barn of S. C. Dallas, of 1827 North East street, was in flames. An alarm was turned in, but by the time the fire department arrived the fire had made too much headway to be extinguished. The barn was destroyed. The loss to the building and contents was about $400.

The horses in the barn and a buggy were saved through the efforts of Bishop Whittaker, who entered the burning building after sending in the fire alarm.

IDAHO LAND FRAUDS.

Coeur d'Alene Capitalist, William Dollar, in the Toils.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 4.—A special grand jury in the Spokane Review says the jury to try William Dollar, the Coeur d'Alene capitalist, and Arthur F. Swisher, of the same place, for land frauds, was secured in the federal court here this afternoon. The indictment, which was read to the jury, alleges that the defendants procured various persons to take up land claims, and that the money for the filings was furnished by Dollar and his associates. It is said that among those who took up land at the instance of Dollar and his associates were a number of insured women. It is said that Elma Peterson, one of these women, was at the time the paragon of Preston, and that she had been married to a man who had been married to a woman and is said to have told of Preston's part in the land fraud for revenge. Preston has pleaded guilty. Dollar has declared that his nephew has threatened to involve him in land frauds. He denies collusion in the case.

A Tightening of Money.

A financial crisis, similar to that through which the country is successfully passing, only goes to show how easily and how quickly money may be frightened, and how tight time money may become without any perceptible warning.

The new rule recently adopted by the local clearing house to allow but limited withdrawals of funds on deposit has, in a number of cases, worked a hardship on many who need their money for investment, and who had contemplated the placing of it where it would yield them a good rate of interest. Now, we have a proposition for just such people. If they have $500 or $1,000, or double or treble that amount, which they would like to invest, we can show them where they can place it immediately so that their money will earn 10 per cent on their investment. We have recently built $100,000 worth of fine houses on Ninth avenue, on the line of the new street car extension, and they are for sale for cash or on long time payments. We will accept a man's check for the amount he wishes to invest, and which he cannot withdraw at one time from his bank, and can show him how the interest on the money, together with the increasing valuation, will equal 10 per cent.

The houses are thoroughly modern in every respect, well built, perfect in location, and afford an opportunity for investment rarely offered.

You can see us at 32-34 Main street; you can see the houses by applying at 453 C street for the keys.
